Local Ration Board Receives Applications For Gas Rationing

Registration To Be Held November 12th to 14th—Civilian
Defense Volunteer Office to Make Registration—
Places of Registration Designated

The Hancock County Ration Board has received application forms which motorists must use on November 12th to 14th when they apply for gasoline ration books. Arrangements have been made to distribute the forms to gasoline stations throughout the county. Owners of private automobiles may obtain their applications directly from their gasoline retailers, and all owners of passenger cars are requested to secure the necessary application form as they will need one of these forms if they are to receive gasoline for their automobiles. All applications should be completed by the applicant when they are presented to the registrars—and each application must be accompanied by the 1943 automobile privilege tax receipt showing that the license has been paid for the use of the automobile.

The registration in Hancock County will be conducted with the aid of the Civilian Defense Volunteer Office, and will be held at the following places:

Central School, Bay St. Louis.
School House, Waveland.
School House, Clermont Harbor.
School House, Logtown.
School House, Aaron Academy.
School House, Kiln.

Drivers of passenger cars, for the most part, will receive an "A" book entitling them to 2880 driving miles per year. Procedure to be followed by car owners begins when he gets his application form, or 534, with tire inspection record attached; he then fills out both of these documents, including the serial number of the five tires he may keep after selling the excess ones to the Government. If any applicant has more than five tires he will be denied a ration card.

On any day from November 12th to 14th, applicant goes to a registration center and presents his application to a registrar who examines it to see if it is correctly filled out, and, as stated heretofore, the application must be accompanied by your automobile privilege tax receipt. After the examination of the application and the receipt he is given his ration book and tire inspection record, which he keeps for the time being. If an applicant believes that he is entitled to more than the basic rationing, or a class "A" card. He will be given an application for a supplemental gas ration. This application should not be filled out at the time that you present yourself for registration, but should be filled out and mailed, or delivered to the local ration board at the Court House.

Owners and operators of commercial vehicles should secure their application form from the office of the ration board—the date that these forms are received will be announced later. All commercial operators will be given public notice of the date when these forms are received. Commercial operators will be issued a "T" ration book and when the applications are presented they must also present to the ration board the certificate of war necessity which is obtained from the office of Defense Transportation.

Owners of automobiles are cautioned not to attempt to hoard, or store, gasoline to be used in their automobiles as this is directly in violation of the regulations controlling gasoline rationing; however, the owner of an automobile may fill his tank before rationing commences which amount he will be allowed to use after the date of rationing begins.

W. J. Gex, Jr., Named Member of Mississippi Industrial Salvage Committee

Mr. Walter J. Gex, prominent Bay St. Louis business leader, has been named a member of the Mississippi Industrial Salvage Committee by appointment by Lee H. Taylor of Jackson, who is state chairman.

Mr. Gex is one of twenty-two Mississippians who have been asked to serve in the current War Production Board Campaign to speed the flow of industrial salvage from the state's 1000 plants to the nation's steel mills which are desperately in need of scrap to supply war needs.

In calling upon Mississippi industry to furnish every available pound of salvage, State Chairman Taylor said that it was up to industrial plants to supply 70 per cent of the scrap necessary to keep steel mills operating.

The slogan of the campaign is "If it hasn't been used in three months and if someone can't prove that it's going to be used in the next three months, find a use for it—or scrap it."

Among other members of the state-wide salvage committee is R. G. LeTourneau, noted multi-millionaire industrialist who has recently opened a plant near Vicksburg and who has moved to Mississippi with his family.

STATE OPA OFFICE ANNOUNCES CLASSES ENTITLED TO 'C' CARDS

Certain Classes of Gasoline Users Will Receive Preference Rating—Classifications Listed

The State OPA Office announced Friday that there were 20 different classes of gasoline users who will receive preference or "C" cards when automobile gasoline rationing becomes effective November 22.

The new list includes six additional categories over those in effect in the Eastern coastal area where rationing has been in effect since last summer, the OPA said.

The tightening of eligibility to the "C" rationing cards, however, was pointed out by the OPA in the elimination of traveling salesmen from those who will be granted additional mileage.

Following are the 20 classifications:

1. By officials, representatives or employees of a Federal, State, local, or foreign government on official business.
2. By officials, representatives or employees of the American Red Cross on official business.
3. Daily or periodic travel between home and work is not to be considered official business under the plan, but elected members of Federal or State Legislative bodies may get preferred mileage to drive from their home towns to the place of legislative session, and for travel elsewhere in pursuit of legislative business.

Members of local War Price and Rationing Boards may be given preferred mileage to travel between the homes and the place where the Board conducts its business. Compensated travel by persons engaged in administration of the Selective Service System whose services are not otherwise compensated is also preferred mileage.

4. By a school teacher or school official for the performance of school duties requiring regular travel from one recognized educational institution to another.
5. By a person for regularly transporting four or more pupils, students, teachers or school employees to or from regular places of study, provided that alternative means of transportation are not adequate.
6. For the transportation of mail on behalf of the United States Government.
7. For delivery, other than delivery to the reader, of newspapers (not including magazines).
8. For the transportation of non-portable equipment used in making newsreels for dissemination of information to the public, by a person regularly engaged in such activity.
9. 10. By a farm veterinarian for rendering professional services at agricultural establishments, but only if the applicant is licensed by the appropriate governmental authority and regularly renders such professional services.
11. By a medical interne, student of an accredited medical school or a public health nurse—but not including a private nurse—employed by or serving under the direction of a clinic or hospital, governmental agency, industrial concern, or similar organization, for rendering necessary medical, nursing, or inspection calls.
12. By an embalmer for rendering necessary services in connection with the preparation for interment of deceased persons, but only if the applicant is licensed as such by the appropriate governmental authority.
13. By a practicing minister of any religious faith who regularly serves a congregation, to enable him to meet the religious needs of the locality which he regularly serves, but not to go from home to place of worship. Or by a practicing minister who regularly serves more than one congregation, to enable him to travel to the churches which he serves.
14. By a duly authorized religious practitioner, other than a minister, in serving members of an organized religious faith in the locality which he regularly serves. This does not include travel from home to place of worship.
15. By a farmer for transporting products and supplies between a farm and a public market, wholesale or retail establishment, place of shipment or another farm.
16. For transporting farm workers, commercial fishermen, seamen or marine workers between their homes and work.
17. By workers, including executives, technicians and office workers, for necessary travel to, from, within or between military and hospital establishments, public utilities, and industrial, extractive or agricultural establishments essential to the war effort for purposes necessary to their functioning or operation. This does not include travel for sales,

SCRAP CONTEST EXTENDED

November 14th Date Set for Close of Contest—School
Children Working Hard

The scrap drive in Hancock County is still on in full force and the spirit with which the school children are working, putting forth more effort day by day to win the prizes offered in the contest which closes on November 14th. The time of the contest having been extended to this date. Large quantities of metal came in this past week from Bay High and St. Stanislaus. From the little school at Clermont Harbor comes reports of the splendid work being done by the small band of students numbering 29 who are working hard on the scrap collection.

Out of this number 20 of these students are buying War Stamps with their scrap earnings, and the amount accumulated by many of the students will total the value of a bond.

Mrs. Williams, the principal of the school is lending her cooperation and is encouraging her students in this activity.

During the past week Mr. Voight shipped the stock of scrap at his place of business and this week over 40,000 pounds was delivered to him. Included in this amount were four tons of bed ends from the Gulfside Assembly. Three tons of practice bombs from the Hancock Guntery and Bombing Range and several tons of steel runways that had been bombed, and into this pile also went the old iron fence which once adorned the front yard of the Catholic Rectory.

Mr. Voight reports that he is not certain but he actually believes that some of the boys have even turned in their copper stills.

To date there has been collected in Hancock County 507,000 pounds of scrap metal. We still have a little ways to go to meet our quota, but let's not stop there, but get every available pound of metal in Hancock County out and into the proper channels to make implements of war.

VOLUNTEERS WANTED FOR MAKING SURGICAL DRESSINGS

Hon. W. J. Gex, Jr., Chairman of the Hancock County Red Cross Chapter is making an appeal to the women of Hancock County, who can spare an hour occasionally, to help the surgical dressing unit, with headquarters on the second floor of the Masonic Temple. Up until this time they are back in their quota—in fact, have not completed their September quota, which was allotted, and since that time the October quota has been sent in. Mr. Gex is particularly anxious that Hancock County meet its quota in this work, and unless some help comes forward it appears that the quota will not be met. May we urge the women of the County, who are able to give a little time to this very necessary work, that they do so. This is one of the most important phases of the Red Cross work. The surgical dressings prepared here may be for the use of the medical units in the care of some of our own boys. We are certain that the people of this county who have come to the front in every case that has been brought forward in our war effort, will respond to this one; so, if you have the time and want to do a worthy war work go by the Masonic Temple and give a little of your time in helping Hancock County to meet its quota in the preparation of surgical dressings.

FLAGS DEDICATED AT MAIN ST. METHODIST CHURCH SUNDAY

A very impressive service was held at the Main Street Methodist Church on Sunday, November 1, when the American, Christian and Service Flags were dedicated and placed in the church.

The program was in charge of Mrs. J. B. Goldman—Fred McDonald, Sea Scout, with Virginia Seal and Audrey Biehl, Girl Scouts, as guards. The Christian Flag was carried by Neil Walker, Boy Scout, with Patricia and Gene Robin, Girl Scouts as guards.

The service flag was made by Mrs. J. B. Goldman and was placed on the wall with 17 stars for the seventeen members of the church now in service. The one gold star for Ensign Mark Smith, who died at sea.

The program, which was under the direction of Rev. A. M. Ellison and Mrs. J. B. Goldman, was as follows:

Song, "God Bless America," Pledge of Allegiance to the American Flag, Pledge of Allegiance to the Christian Flag, responsive reading led by the pastor and sacred song to the music of America.

Special music was rendered by Mrs. Goldman, piano, and Mrs. Catherine Thomas, violin.

Daughter of Former Bay St. Louisian Writes Song

The Albuquerque Tribune recently carried the following item of news: The first public rendition of "Over the Sunset," a song written by Marjorie Pickett and dedicated to Albuquerque soldiers in Bataan, will be made tomorrow night at the Army emergency relief dance in Carlisle gym by an Air Base vocalist.

The lyrics and music were written by Miss Pickett. The orchestration was done by Tom Hogg, local musician.

The words are:

When sunset nest and shadows touch the sky
My thoughts go west and straight to you they fly
Over the sunset and half the world away
Storm clouds they blew
Are frowning on you today.
Over the sunset the breeze will blow my prayer
Past the blue sea
And while sails that flee somewhere
When the sun is slipping from my view
Then I know its dawning glow wakes you.
I'll watch at sunset with those who wait alone
Till you come winging
Over the Sunset—home.

Miss Pickett is the daughter of the former Miss Margaret Ansley of this city, a sister of Mr. Luther and the late Emmet Ansley.

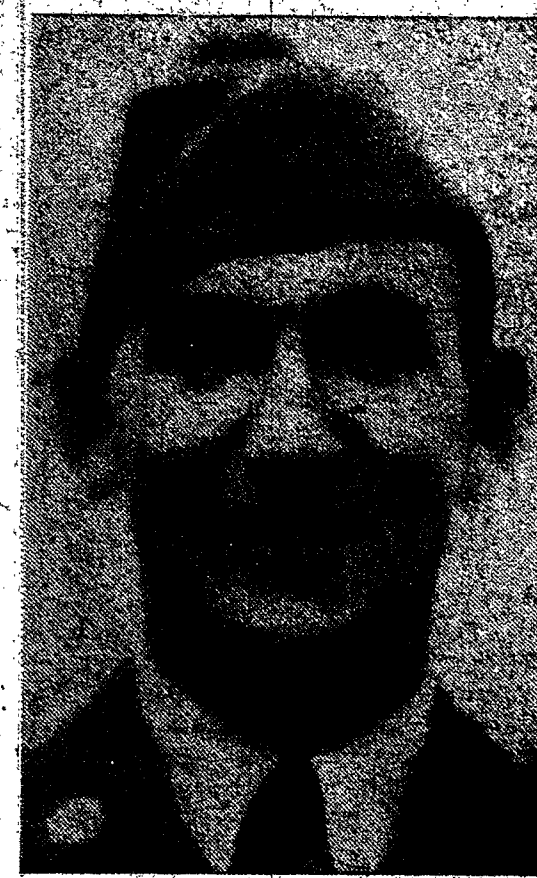

Mrs. Pickett is a graduate of Bay High and was married here at the Main Street Methodist Church but has lived the greater part of her married life in Albuquerque, New Mexico.

There are many here who are glad to have this news of her daughter, Miss Marjorie Pickett.

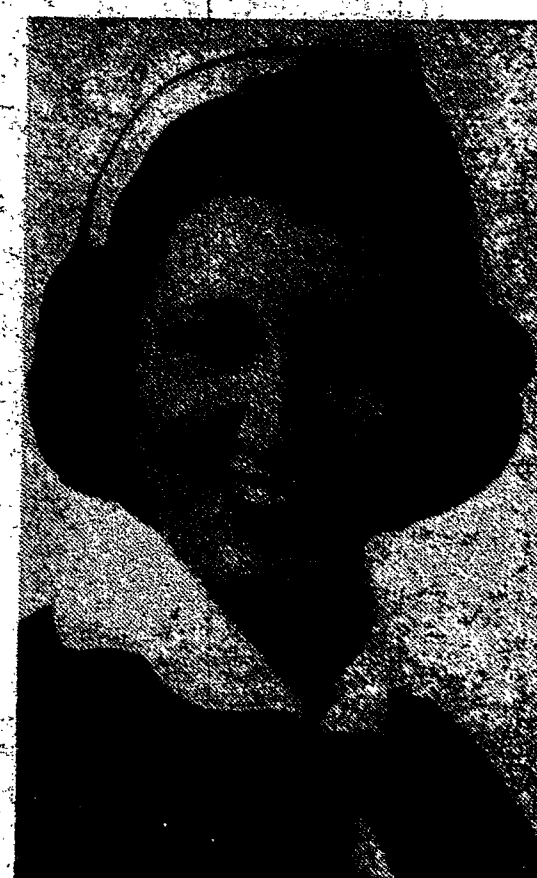

Telegrams by a person regularly engaged in that business.

20. By a person regularly engaged in the business of dealing in scrap materials for loading and accumulating scrap metals or other scrap essential to the war effort. To qualify the applicant must present a certification from a local or regional War Production Board Salvage Representative that such travel is essential to the war effort.

HENRY OTIS RECEIVES DISCHARGE FROM U. S. NAVY

Was Aboard Carrier Hornet—Saw Action at Coral Sea and Midway—Honorable Discharge Because of Injury

Henry L. Otis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lamar Otis of Logtown returned home a few days ago after serving in the U. S. Navy for nearly two years. In December 1940 he asked to be transferred from the Reserve to the regular Navy, received his appointment and left for Norfolk, Va. on January 11, 1941. After staying 3 days at the Norfolk Receiving Station he was assigned to the U. S. S. Aircraft Carrier "WASP" and was on patrol duty on that ship until August when he was transferred back to Norfolk to await the completion of the USSS Carrier "HORNET." While on this ship he took part in the battle of the Coral Sea and at Midway Islands, and was at some places which are still Military Secrets and cannot yet be told.

After the Battle of Midway Henry was offered shore duty to await the completion of another war carrier and was stationed at Puget Sound Naval Base. While doing some construction work there he was injured by a piece of falling timber and taken to the hospital where he stayed for nearly three months. He was then given an Honorable Discharge and sent back home.

Bay Boys Helping To Build Boats

Bay St. Louis is proud that several of our boys contributed to the building of the two large ocean-going tugs—the Matagorda and the Arkansas Pass launched last week by the Pendleton Shipyards.

The two boats were launched in the morning and afternoon of Wednesday of last week with several thousands looking on and are the first of nine to be completed by Pendleton.

Each boat cost $1,100,000.

The boys from here employed in some unit of the work are Jack Seuzeneau, James Henry, Paul Lacoste, Joe Colson, all graduates of St. Stanislaus and Leroy Nelson and Kenneth Bourgeois graduates of Bay High. Some of these were doing vacation work and have now returned to school and some are still with the company.

Miss Arizona Taconi Contributes To Defense Program

Miss Arizona Taconi, clerical assistant at the Hancock County WPA Library for the past three years is a tacker at the Ingalls Shipbuilding Corporation at Pascagoula and likes it. She is the only woman tacker there from here.

"After my quiet life at the library," Miss Taconi said, "it is a bustling, ear bursting bedlam, each person going about his business of making his own particular kind of noise. The clipper on our platen is a tiny man and makes the most noise. The work is something I never thought I'd be able to do but now I'd have nothing else," she continued.

Her work is out in the open on the platen in sight of the drydocks where ships under construction may be seen on the ways. Each ship-fitter on the platen has his own tacker, most of whom are women, whose job it is to tack the iron together when the shipfitter gets it in place. The decks are put together in sections on the platen and then the welder's turn to secure the iron. It is then taken to the ship where the parts are fitted in like a cut out puzzle.

Each group has its own counselor or coordinator whose duty it is to see that each woman welder or tacker gets an even break. "So far," Miss Taconi said, "we have had no difficulty. The men have accepted us and work us as they do the men though sometimes I think they are a little easier on us."

Miss Taconi said that transportation facilities are convenient and that the hours are long but the work is not hard only a little tiring on the beginner. And the pay is commensurate. As to its being hard on the eyes she said that applies only to those who break the rules. Those with red eyes are the ones who refuse to wear the glasses furnished by the shipyard tacker and welders are not among those.

"It is wonderful," Miss Taconi said, "after a long day to view the completion of a day's work and be able to say 'That is my contribution to this giant defense program of this wonderful country of ours.'"

Miss Taconi passed her apprentice welder's test and is now classified and employed as an apprentice welder.

THE POLITICAL POSITION OF THE SOUTH

THE results of the election held in many states last Tuesday is probably giving the leaders of the New Deal a few headaches.

The present leaders of the Democratic Party are not truly Democrats at heart, but are New Dealers. The majority party in Congress today is not known as the Democratic Party, but as the New Deal. The actions of this group to gain control of, and to hold the affairs of this nation in their hands has about come to an end.

We in the South have had to sit by and see the majority shove down our throats, legislation that was abhorrent. This was done solely for the purpose of courting and holding the negro vote in the North.

Apparently they have failed in this. Today the balance of power in the House of Representatives lies in the group of Congressmen from the South, who have had to stand by and take their medicine as it was passed out to them. They have had legislation lie stagnant, if it did not meet with the approval of the President. It was practically impossible for them to move, unless pressure was attempted to be put on them.

Men from the South are usually free thinkers and act according to the dictates of their conscience, and do not like to be driven or told what to do; and it has been mighty hard for them to sit by with some one having a strangle hold on their throats.

The Republicans have rescued us from ourselves. We are certain that from now on the Southern Congressmen will be given due recognition, and that the New Dealers will not attempt to pass legislation with which we are not in accord, for if this continues, the people of the South, by the time the next national election comes around, will be forced to break a precedent and vote for the Republican nominee for President, or be forced to clean our house in the Democratic Party.

The South has been traditionally Democratic. The actions of the Republicans following the Civil War, and with the horrors of that time still lingering in our minds, we could be nothing other than a Democrat. But, when we see our party take up where the Republican left off, and see them attempt to force social equality down our throats, attempting to destroy white supremacy, that which the Republican did not do, in the South; and attempting to stir strife between races in a section of the country where they are in thorough accord, and living happily together, we would have no alternative than to align ourselves with the Republicans.

The negro of the South is happy in his position, far happier than the one living in the North. We know from actual contacts that the negro is merely tolerated north of the Mason Dixon line, and we in the South know that our negroes love and respect us, and we deeply appreciate their attitude.

The Southern negro does not want social equality, he would not be happy if he had it. He wants the leadership and protection of the white people with whom he has been raised, and who have helped him, and whom he respects. The sooner the New Dealers recognize this fact, the sooner we will have a united Democratic Party.

FORCED SPEED NEEDED NOW

THE recent Washington announcement which said that it is now hoped that enough rubber can be provided to keep all civilian cars going, is extremely encouraging. For the first time, the people have been given something beside "official" rumors and conflicting statements. And for the first time, it looks as if the government is going to attempt to solve the rubber problem with speed and efficiency. In this connection, the work and the policies of Mr. Eastman, head of the Office of Defense Transportation, and Mr. Jeffers, who has charge of the rubber program, are particularly outstanding. These men are demonstrating conclusively that they want results and mean to get them.

Economists who have studied the situation carefully have long been convinced that the rubber problem is not insoluble. Very important progress has been made by the oil industry in developing usable synthetic rubbers, and it is an unfortunate fact that this phase of the program has been held back by political indecision. Other kinds of rubber, with special properties which make them valuable for various purposes, are being successfully produced from coal, grain alcohol and other materials. American inventive genius, in short, is doing a fine job in finding ways to offset the loss of natural rubber.

This country's cars must be kept going. America can't be compared to other nations, where the motor car was a luxury enjoyed only by the rich. We have literally built our social and industrial life on the automobile. If, because of lack of rubber, any substantial part of our 27,000,000 cars were taken out of circulation, the resulting slow-down would have a catastrophic effect. The rubber program must go ahead—and go at forced speed.

THE SITUATION IN THE SOLOMONS

IT is rather difficult to pass judgment upon the Solomon campaign up to this time without knowing more of the facts involved. While some critics have suggested that our losses, especially in cruisers, have been due to the adoption of a defense patrol strategy there are others who believe that caution has enabled us to exact a heavy toll from the foe.

With the Japanese throwing greater strength into the campaign, it is plain that what began as a local offensive has developed into major warfare, which may have a tremendous effect upon the entire situation in the Pacific.

Foster Bailey, writing in the New York Times from Honolulu, refers to the belief that a more aggressive policy in fleet operation may have paid a bigger dividend in enemy ships sunk but wisely points out that the same policy may have resulted in heavier losses than the Pacific fleet can afford.

"It is a tough situation," he comments, for the admirals and generals in the Pacific, charged with the responsibility of "holding the line." Our fliers are outnumbered, our ships are outnumbered and shore operations, as upon Guadalcanal are undertaken at heavy disadvantages.

WITH THE FISHERMEN AND OTHER SPORTS

By KANCHU KETCHEM

FISHING and hunting has been exceptionally good for the past week.

Fish have been plentiful and large catches have been reported. The best fishing spots for speckles have been Bayou LaCroix, Jordan River at Bayou Lacout and Bayou Cadet. Large catches have been made both by trolling and bait fishing.

Pete Porter reports catching some large speckles and a large flounder while trolling up Jordan River Monday.

August Rauxet and Bill Witter caught 22 speckles and one red fish Sunday while trolling.

Alden Mauffray and Dec Elliott caught 22 speckles and one red fish Sunday while trolling.

John Mollere and Red Kimmel report a nice catch.

Joe diBenedetto and Tony Piazza caught 10 large speckles Sunday afternoon in Bayou LaCroix.

Millard Toulouse said the speckles were striking "like no body's business" and they caught plenty of them both on the minnow and with dead bait.

Our Waveland friend, Charlie Molere has been getting his share of big speckles at Bayou Cadet. Charlie uses live and dead bait and says they were biting good all week.

Among others who have been catching speckled beauties while trolling are Cornelius Herlihy, Buddy Dufour, Cliff Ferrell, Bob Genh, W. S. Morrill, Claude Miller, Albert Hitt, Claude Pressley, Ogden Kergosien, Cliff Lyons.

Clerk of Courts A. G. Favre and John Mollere caught 9 large speckles while trolling up Jordan River Monday afternoon.

With opening of the duck season Monday of this week reports are to the effect that ducks are plentiful and many were bagged.

Red Kimmel spent Sunday night camping up the river to be on hand early Monday morning. He reports getting the limit on the first day. And did he enjoy it!

"Billy" Bourgeois home for the week end spent Sunday in his boat up Jordan river—with him was L. A. Rogers who caught his first trout trolling—a 2½ pounder.

J. Bailey and C. H. Campton and H. Gardner made a nice catch of green trout Sunday.

W. T. Allen of Hattiesburg reported catching a nice bunch of bass and perch over the week end.

Melba Rutherford and friend from New Orleans caught six large trout Sunday in Bayou LaCroix.

Henry Osolnach caught ten good size green trout while fly fishing up Pearl River Sunday.

Green trout are striking both surface and under-water bats. The old "Cripple Minnow," favorite with local casters is proving a wonderful bait.

Sportsmen—Just remember—Don't go hunting without a license. Don't use artificial baits and tackle without a fishing license. Don't shoot ducks without a duck stamp.

Limit on Ducks—10 daily, 20 in possession.

25 coot daily—25 in possession. Open season on ducks, Geese, Brant and Coot—November 2 to December 31.

Dove season opens December 1st to January 11. Limit 12 daily—12 in possession.

Green trout (Black Bass) must be 10 inches in length—Perch 5 in.

It is better to have a good line—than to say "The big one got away." Check up on the old tackle box before going for a day's fishing.

Meeting of Service Men's Recreational Council November 10th.

Fournier, Director of the Service Men's Recreational Council, wishes to announce that a meeting of the Council will be held in the Courthouse on next Tuesday afternoon, November 10th, at 1:30 o'clock for the purpose of formulating plans for entertaining the large number of Merchant Marine cadets who are stationed at the Maritime Commission's Cadet Training School at Henderson Point.

Everyone interested is urged to attend this meeting and it is hoped that a large number of Bay St. Louis patriotic citizens will be present.

"THE PRIDE OF THE YANKEES" AT ORTIE THEATER, SUN-MON.

Gary Cooper Starred as "Lou Gehrig"

"Pride of the Yankees" is not a baseball picture, although the passage of time is told by the pennant flying over the ball parks. It is not even the story of a baseball player, much as Lou Gehrig has come to typify the ideal performer and sportsman. It is the story of a man, a public figure whose tragic death took him out of the realm of sports heroes into the legend of America. For Lou Gehrig's life is American, from his boyhood in a home where the influence of European forbears had not yet been erased by his courageous withdrawal from public life with the applause of thousands in his ears. Much of it that the picture never knew has been supplied, fictionalized perhaps, in the portrayal of his life with proud parents and an adoring wife. Thus, it is the full impact of loss which the audience comprehends, but with it comes the certainty that such lives are not bounded by time or circumstance, that the spirit of a man had fulfilled itself.

The performance of Gary Cooper is so right that he is Lou Gehrig when the picture achieves its climax, completely identified with the man you knew through the press. Teresa Wright has provided an admirable Eleanor, sincere and unaffected. Special mention should be given also to Elsa Janssen, Lou's mother, who affords a quiet humor, avoiding sentimentality.

The entire production by Samuel Goldwyn has a satisfying authenticity and a keen emotional appeal which should fulfill audience expectations.

the assessment of property; that it has made such changes in the assessments (as fixed by it) on the said rolls as it, July, 1942, meeting, that it was satisfied should be made in order to fix the assessment of property, real and personal, at its actual value so as to establish equality and uniformity of taxation according to value among the taxpayers of said county, and that all objections to the said assessment rolls, and to the assessments therein, have been heard and disposed of; that the Board of Supervisors has added to the said rolls all property and persons found to be omitted therefrom, and has given notice to such persons and has heard and determined all objections thereto; that this Board has changed and corrected all erroneous assessments; that all things required by law has been done; that the Tax Assessor of said County attended this meeting of the Board of Supervisors, from the assessment of personal property to day, while it was considering the assessment of personal property, and hearing objections to the said assessments, and that he rendered all assistance which his knowledge and information enabled him to give; and now being of the opinion that the assessment rolls contain assessments fair, equal, uniform and just, according to the value of the real and personal property therein described.

It is, therefore, ordered and adjudged, that the said assessment rolls, and the assessments therein contained, be and they are hereby accepted approved and made final, and that the final recapitulation of said assessment rolls be certified to the State Tax Commission, on blanks furnished by it, within ten days after the adjournment of this meeting, as provided by Section 3176, Mississippi Code of 1930, and as required by law.

Ordered and adjudged this 28th day of August, A. D. 1942.

The Clerk is further directed to issue warrants out of the respective funds in the amounts set out above in addition to the accrued interest on said bonds to date.

ALL SAINTS DAY AT DELISLE

From time immemorial it has been the custom to keep the graveyard well decorated with flowers on each grave in the evening of All Saints Day among the French pioneers of the Mississippi Coast. Also a strange custom to burn candles on the graves probably with the signification of the perpetual light shine upon the departed ones. Father Sorin after reciting the usual prayers at the cemetery sang there, that touching Gregorian melody: Pie Jesu, Domine, dona eis requiem, and he blessed the graves.

A tremendous crowd was present like at church in the morning. It was also crowded in the evening with Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. On All Saints Day a High Requiem Mass was sung and many prayers for the departed ascended to Heaven from many who offered their communion that day for the Poor Souls.

UNUSUAL

Solomon Islands—A native tribe in the Solomons has a new member who incidentally is a Red Cross Field Director. The chief's son, fighting with the American Armed Forces, was killed in action. Because the village was ten miles from any sort of civilization, the Field Director of the Red Cross walked the distance to tell the chief of his son's death. Upon hearing the news, the chief called the entire tribe together and announced that he was adopting the Field Director as his new son.

Over Seven and a Half Million Dollars
A Pledge For Americans

I am a citizen of a country where man is born of freedom. I am proud of it.

I take pride in being a free citizen in a free society, but I know that the priceless blessing of liberty is not a heritage, but is won afresh or lost by each generation.

I therefore pledge myself to all those Americans who have gone before me and to all those who will come after me to do my part and to pass on this Freedom.

I will listen to no idle rumors. I will repeat no destructive gossip. I will support loyally and in friendship all the United Nations who are joined with us in this righteous compact to defeat the Axis Powers. I know my country must win this war, and I will conduct myself as if I alone bore the responsibility for the victory of Democracy. In the words of a soldier of other days, "I will endure, I will fight cheerfully and do my utmost—as if the issue of the struggle depended on me alone."

I dedicate myself to this cause. I swear that to win it, I will make any sacrifice, however great, and perform any task, however humble.

So help me, God!

Agent Notes

This year count your chickens before they're hatched. Uncle Sam is advising the Nation's 10,500 hatcherymen to be certain of having ready 200 million extra chicks needed for the fall and winter meat production program called for by the Secretary of Agriculture.

The Poultry Production Committee of the U. S. Department of Agriculture has sought the cooperation of the International Baby Chick Association to speed up hatchery operations so that farmers can start feeding by early November. This will mean 200 million chicks added to the normal fall production of about 50 million for winter brooding. The eggs for hatching will be taken from those used normally for food, but hatchery requirements will not amount to more than 4 percent of the total production for the supply period.

This plan is expected to supply, roughly, 600 million extra pounds of chickens from January through March. This quantity will be in addition to the poultry stocks normally marketed during the fall and winter season, and will help satisfy the shortage caused by over-demand for meats by civilians. This is the story in an egg shell.

Care For Electric Irons

Three "don'ts" for owners of electric irons—which, like other electric appliances, are practically irreplaceable now—are: Don't overheat, don't put in water—and don't drop. A few simple precautions will prolong service.

Use the iron on the right circuit, preferably from a convenient outlet, not a light socket. The name plate usually gives the voltage and kind of current required—direct or alternating. Irons with thermostats operate only on alternating current, and plugging into a direct current circuit may ruin the thermostat. Repeated overheating may injure the heating element and is likely to discolor the soleplate. Overheating of the element in a thermostatically controlled iron is caused by using it on a circuit in which the voltage is too high. The most common cause of overheating of an uncontrolled iron is attaching the iron too long before starting the ironing or leaving it connected while doing something else.

Keep the iron clean, especially the soleplate, but never put one into water. Let it cool, wipe with a damp cloth, dry thoroughly, store in a clean, dry place. Wax occasionally with bees wax. Dropping an electric iron may break the heating element or thermostat. A fall may also scratch the soleplate so that it catches on the fabric to be ironed.

Pulling on the cord to disconnect an iron instead of taking hold of the plug is another common mistake, as it is likely to pull the wires loose inside the plug. Irons with detachable cords should be disconnected first from the wall outlet. Pulling the plug from the iron first will in time cause pitting of the terminals. These are likely to harden to replace as they are made of strategic materials.

By taking care of your appliance cords, you help conserve copper and rubber for war effort use. Much of the wear on an electric cord comes when it is being connected or disconnected. When removing it from the wall outlet, always grasp the plug or cap at the end of the cord. Never pull on the cord itself. Wire loosened this way may cause a broken connection or a short circuit.

Make all connections and disconnections with the switch turned off, thus saving the metal prongs and outlets from the sparking which will eventually wear away the metal.

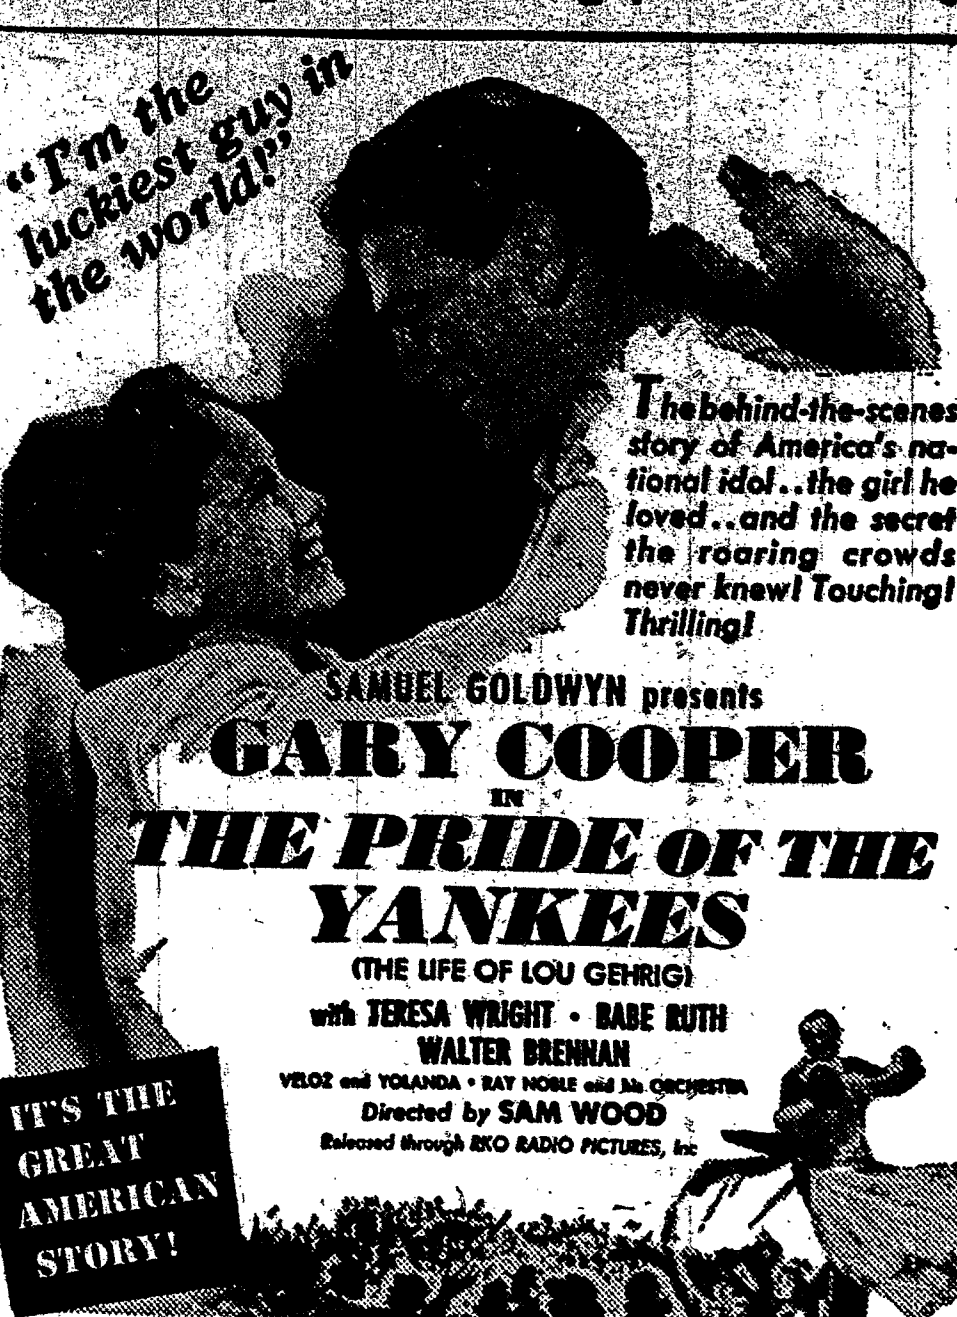

If you control the temperature of your iron by disconnecting frequently while using it, make these disconnections from the wall outlet, not from the iron. When through ironing, disconnect at both wall and outlet and iron.

Repairing the first frayed place on the outside covering of an electric cord may save a lot more trouble later on. Cover inside insulation if worn off so that bare wires can not touch while current is flowing from a short circuit which may result in a blown fuse, cord burned in half, or even a fire. Prevent your electric cords from touching hot surfaces—heat can injure both covering and inside insulation. And if water soaks through a cord and reaches the wires, it can cause a short circuit.

Personal and General

GIRL SCOUT TROOP NO. 1 HAS HALLOWEEN DANCE

Girl Scout Troop No. 1 enjoyed a Halloween Dance at their new scout house, Second street and Breath Lane on Saturday evening October 31. The party was planned by Miss Audrey Biehl and Mary Margaret Thomas. Guests of honor were former members of the troop.

The house was appropriately decorated with colors of black and orange and other innovations to create a ghost-like atmosphere. To add to this a group of small boys lurked in the darkness of trees.

And the costumes! Witches, gypsies, ghosts, hobgoblins and ancient queens and slaves stalked abroad in the dim lighted rooms where candles sputtered and kerosene lamps burned low.

Miss Margalo Dambrino walked off with prize for most unique costume—that is when her identity was disclosed for it took some guessing to name the ghost with the pumpkin head.

Joy Starita captured the prize for the most complete disguise in a "spook" costume, Margie Horlock won the game contest prize.

The costumes were all original and those claiming special mention were Miss Margie Horlock as Cleopatra with her beautiful slave girl, Jeanne Arceneaux; Patricia Robin as "Gertie" with Thelma Thomas as her boy friend, Audrey Biehl as a perfect gypsy acted as hostess.

Mrs. Frank Van Devender, the assistant troop leader, was on hand to give added merriment to the party. And of course, Mrs. J. B. Goldman, who is responsible for all scout activities in town, was there enjoying it with her scouts.

Apples bobbing in a tub, marshmallows toasted on an open fire and the always standard refreshments of ice cream and cake made human beings of the weird figures of the early evening. Let's have more of this wholesome type of fun.
